People to Meet in 2022: Russ Haims

Russ Haims, president of Hampton Properties, LLC

By Katherine Hamilton

Haims won Worcester's real estate lottery this year, giving him the opportunity to have a heavy influence on the development of the Elm Park neighborhood.

something of a speciality for the real estate developer, whose company has been restoring historic properties in Worcester since 1985. With such an asset added to his portfolio, Haims holds the power to shape one of Worcester's most central residential neighborhoods, as well as the insider knowledge to reliably forecast the city's real estate trends to come.
